In addition to the above $283.43, there has been charged to the town farm, paid directly from the Treasurer, $130.25 for cart and harness; so that the total cash cost to the town of the poor-house from Feb. 1, 1876, to Feb. 1, 1877, has been $413.68, with every bill settled, so far as we know, up to that date. The sum of $209.59, which appears in the poor accounts, was in settlement up to Feb. 1, 1876, and should have been paid at that time. The Warden has exhibited vouchers for every dollar spent, and all his accounts have been carefully examined by us. The above account is correct.

REPORT OF THE BUILDING COMMITTEE OF THE SOUTH SCHOOL-HOUSE.

The financial statement of expenses which we have incurred in building this house is given elsewhere. The only debts owed on account of our action is a small bill for extras and the balance due on the out-buildings ($100.00). It remains for us to build a fence, for which estimates have been made, showing that the cost will be something less than one hundred dollars. It may be necessary that some more grading be done when the weather will permit; but, after everything else is completed, there must remain a balance of three hundred dollars, — nearly or quite enough to finish plainly the upper room.

The house is fairly built, and, we believe, for convenience of arrangement and comfort, will compare favorably with any other school-house in the town.

JOSEPH E. FISKE,
FREEMAN PHILLIPS,
MARSHALL NEWELL,

Building Committee.

NEEDHAM, February 1, 1877.

REPORT ON HIGHWAYS.

The committee appointed at the last annual meeting to "consider and report upon the best manner of expending the appropriation for highways," offer the following

REPORT.

The committee, after a careful consideration of the subject, would recommend a continuance of the present system, believing it to be the best yet adopted by the town, — the Selectmen to be highway surveyors, and appoint a Superintendent, to whom shall be committed the charge of highway repairs, under their general supervision.

A Superintendent who gives his whole time and attention to the subject, and makes the matter a study, is far better fitted to enter upon a comprehensive system of road repairs than any number of highway surveyors chosen for specified districts, with a limited amount of money to expend. With them there can be no comprehensiveness of plan or unity of action; therefore, they could not be expected to enter upon any extended system of drainage, or other permanent repairs. Neither would they be so well supplied with suitable apparatus, which, in the system recommended, would be owned by the town, and always accessible.

A competent Superintendent would lay out his work with a view to the future, and so arrange the affairs of the road, with regard to the wants of the whole town, as to leave no room for waste of either time or material. If such a Superintendent was found to be efficient, he would undoubtedly be continued in office.

Notwithstanding our roads have improved within the last few years, and will compare favorably with other towns in the vicinity, yet, in view of the increase of population and the consequent demands of an intelligent community, they have not yet reached the point of excellence to which they must attain.

With this end in view, the committee offer a few suggestions. More attention should be paid to surface drainage; good and sufficient gutters should be made on the sides of all the roads; and, in some instances, on the slopes, paving would be an economical method. Culverts should be often examined and promptly repaired when necessary. Special attention should be paid to keeping the roads clear of stones, and removing brush and all unsightly appearances from the sides, and overhanging branches pruned from the trees left for ornament.

In the opinion of the committee, twenty-five per cent., at least, of horse labor might be saved by using the material at hand in the road-beds, reducing the grade of hills by removing the shoulders, opening gutters and clearing off stones. All this might be accomplished with pick, shovel and rake, and save the usual expense of carting large quantities of gravel long distances.

SNOW.

The committee suggest that the present system of breaking roads is insufficient.

It is to be hoped that apparatus will yet be invented which will open the roads wide enough for teams to pass without danger, and deep enough to prevent injury to horses when the snow softens.

Men should be employed in different parts of the town, with limited territory, to keep the roads open when the snow is drifting, and to fill up cradle-holes; also to keep the gutters open, especially during a rain-storm or thaw.

GRAVEL.

We recommend the purchase of gravel banks in suitable localities, as more economical than the present expensive method of buying gravel by the load.

The committee deem it unnecessary to allude to other important matters of road-repair. A few extracts from experienced writers and speakers upon the subject will be more to the purpose than any further suggestions of our own.

[From Report of C. L. Flint, 1869.]

"Another most common defect which arises from the custom of semi-annual repairs is the neglect to pick up and remove the small loose stones that are constantly working up through the improperly applied material, to lie on the surface, to hammer up the road-bed at every blow of the wheel, and to endanger life and limb. Hard, firm rocks projecting above the surface are bad enough, and cause the resistance of collision, but other inequalities, loose, round stones, and other loose materials striking against the wheels, are far worse, for they cause great loss of momentum and waste of the power of draft, for the carriage has to be lifted over them by the leverage of the wheels. Any town that fails to remove such obstacles promptly and often ought at least to be reported to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. No money can be better invested than in frequently removing the loose stones always found in a badly-constructed road, and in snow-ploughs for the prompt removal of snow in winter."

[From Prize Essay by Samuel F. Miller.]

"A great deal of money is washed away on our highways for want of constant supervision and prompt repairs. A costly culvert or bridge may be saved by observing the action of the water in time, and applying the necessary remedy. There is constantly forming in the centre of the drive a horse-path, and, at the sides, ruts, both of which prevent surface-drainage to the sides, and form excellent channels on grades for the water in a rain-storm. Water stands in these at different points, the surface is softened, and they are deepened more and more rapidly, for the blow of the wheel increases with the distance fallen. A great rain-storm comes, the road is gullied, hundreds of yards of good ballast are wasted, and the charge is made to the 'dispensation of Providence.'"

[From Prize Essay by Henry Onion.]

"There is no excuse but stolid indifference for the slovenly and unsightly appearance of the borders of our roads. All rubbish, dead leaves, and loose stones should be removed from thence, and not be allowed sensibly to accumulate. This duty should be strictly required, so that the trackway should be kept in order. The waste matter from the surface of the road and gutters is valuable for manure, and, if swept in heaps, would be carried away gladly for its worth by people living near, but in no case should be thrown upon the sides."

[From Superintendent of Roads in Waltham.]

"In early spring, as soon as the frost is fairly out of the ground, the workmen go over the road with picks and hoes, filling ruts, cleaning out drains and water-courses, and picking off the loose stones."

[From Speech of Charles G. Davis, of Plymouth.]

"A year ago we passed a vote that the town should own a horse and cart, and keep a man employed all the time on the roads. We have tried that system a year, and there is not a citizen of the town who will not tell you that the roads anywhere within three-quarters of a mile of the village are in better condition than ever before, and we have saved thousands of dollars by the use of that one horse and cart, and the committal of the oversight and repair of the roads to one man."

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

A source of constant annoyance to your committee is the proper care of the school-houses under their charge.

In the most complete, more or less supervision is constantly required, while the more recently constructed buildings, though commodious and elegant, have demanded so much attention and expense to keep them warmed and dry, that to the uninitiated it may seem that your agents neither knew how to spend money nor exercise true economy. In some respects our least pretentious houses are our best. It is hoped that time and patience will remedy all defects.

At the Plain and Highlandville the houses have been filled to overflowing, and one hive has swarmed into a room in Odd Fellows' Building, — a place not altogether satisfactory for such purpose, and your committee recommend that a small building be erected in the Plains school lot.

The new house at Charles-river Village will doubtless be occupied before this report is printed.

Some of the schools have shown a diminution of numbers.

For the sake of future reference, as well as present comparison, we give the following statistics: —

The system of grading, so wisely, as we believe, heretofore established, has been extended, and new schools, rendered necessary by the increase in the number of pupils, have been formed in the Lower Falls, Wellesley, Plain, and Highlandville sections.

A more careful grading is desirable at Grantville, which will be effected as soon as the growth of that enterprising village will warrant it.

In Unionville and Charles-river Village the schools are too small to be divided, and the school in Greendale is so very small that your committee believe that in justice to the scholars it should be merged with other schools in the vicinity.

The east and west divisions of our High School seem to be doing excellent work. The teachers, ambitious and exact, find hearty response from the pupils.

We commend these schools heartily to our townsmen, and plead for them the patriotic support which is really their due. A system of study has been agreed upon for this school, which includes three parallel courses,—one for students intending to enter college; a second which substitutes for Greek a modern language or classical English, each requiring four years to complete; and a third, requiring but three years, with special reference to business life.

We hope this arrangement may encourage some students, especially boys who do not wish to obtain a classical education, to continue a few years longer in school.

We do not think it would be just to criticise unfavorably our Grammar Schools. The teachers generally seem fitted for their positions, and to be wise and faithful in their administration.

Consecutive and diligent work for the past two or three years, by the committee, has had the effect of bringing into harmony the different schools of this grade throughout the town, and we believe a healthful feeling of rivalry between the scholars has been one of the many good results from this efficient work.

Certain defects which are now apparent in the lower grades indicate that there are yet improvements to be made in the details of gradation, and, in due time, they will receive proper attention. In the Intermediate and Primary Schools we have teachers most fortunate in manner and method, who deserve and ought to have the pay now received by our Grammar teachers.

The grading of schools is, without doubt, of very great advantage, not likely, indeed, to be over-estimated, and so obvious as to need no apology here.

One defect—apparent in all the communities in the State—connected with this system, and which demands serious attention, is that the course of study is not finished in our Public Schools. The whole system, in fact, supposes something after in educational training.

We offer our children a course of study not preparatory for business, for real life, but for further study.

If it were possible that all, or a large part, should continue with their studies after they cease to be wards of the public, the theory would not only be pardonable, but wise; or if the public continued to provide for them until fitted for professional life, there might be no valid objection; but, as a matter of fact, comparatively few enter our High Schools, still less graduate, and a minimum number enter college.

The complaint that our scholars, on leaving our schools now, have not so much practical knowledge as twenty or fifty years ago, is not wholly groundless.

If the object of our system is to educate the few at the expense of the many, we have simply to push on in the direction we have been moving for the past few years, — fitting our younger scholars for the Grammar Schools, keeping the eyes of our Grammar School scholars rigidly fixed on the High School, and the High School completely subservient to the tenth scholar.

Ought not rather a system to be devised which shall induce as many as possible to remain students the longest possible time, and then send them out into the world with the greatest amount of practical knowledge?

There is much injustice, too, in compelling all to contribute to the education of a few.

We have refrained, in this report, from individual criticisms, because we doubt the usefulness of making comparisons thus publicly; but it has been our aim to become entirely familiar with each school and teacher. It will be remembered, however, that it is far easier to see defects than to remedy them.

Respectfully submitted, for the committee,

JOSEPH E. FISKE,

Chairman.

NEEDHAM, Feb. 1, 1877.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

We have to report continued prosperity. No plague has come nigh our dwelling, save the devastating locusts of the Boston Water Board, with their attendant miseries.

As we promised in our last report, the town has had small taxation, without practising too rigid economy.

There is no reason why taxation may not be still further reduced, unless the very wise policy of a gradual reduction of the town debt (amounting to $74,750, less than one and one-half per ct. of the valuation of taxable property of the town) be entered upon the present year.

It often occurs that the Selectmen are asked why they do not carry into effect certain measures supposed to have been adopted by the town, which have not been so adopted, having been merely suggested, or having failed of a passage. We believe it would be wise if the town should instruct its clerk to caused to be printed, an official copy of the doings of the annual meeting, within two weeks after its adjournment, and deliver a copy to each officer of the town, and upon application to any citizen.

You have placed upon the Board of Selectmen this year, in addition to their duties as such, also those of Overseers of the Poor, Board of Health, Highway Surveyors, Auditors and Fence Viewers; individually, also, they each hold other offices of high trust and responsibility, through your selection. We are not willing to confess failure in the trusts reposed in us. On the contrary, we look with pride upon the advanced condition of public affairs in our town; but we have called attention to these facts, that in some respects the precedent be not followed. It is better that more men be educated in town business, and division of office is better than rotation. It is positively unwise that disbursing officers should be upon the Auditing Committee. The Selectmen should print a report of their financial acts; but their accounts and all others should be subjected to a most thorough examination by disinterested men.

It is always just that the freest explanation of all acts of men in places of public trust should be given. We, therefore, following the example of our immediate predecessors, report upon the most important matters upon which we have acted the past year.

ROADS.

The change in the system of the care of roads at the beginning of the year gave us at the outset considerable anxiety.

The unusual spring freshets, calling for men of experience to repair at once the dangerous defects in the ways, and the uncertainty so long as the town meeting remained in session whether the change would be final, led us to employ the men who had been elected Surveyors of Highways; but on the evening of the adjournment of the March meeting we appointed Augustus Stevens Superintendent of Streets, and have had no occasion to regret the choice.

In justice to him we call attention to the fact that but a little over $6,000 was spent under his direction.

It would be difficult to find another person in the town so capable, all things considered, to fill the position. We desire to endorse the system without reserve.

The excess of expenditure for removing snow may be accounted for by the unusual amount of snow which has fallen, and also by the fact that all known bills have been paid up to Feb. 1, 1877.

DEDHAM BRIDGE.

The Selectmen have done little more than act as agents for the County Commissioners in this matter. The work has met with unexpected hindrances, and the Commissioners have extended the time for completion of the bridge to June 15, 1877.

We recommend that only that amount of work be done on the road leading to the bridge which the present appropriation will allow.

SCHOOL, GARDEN, MAPLE, KENDRICK STREETS AND HIGHLAND AVENUE.

These streets have been completed in accordance with the original plan.

Kendrick street will require soon more expense at our hands unless Mr. Munson meets his contract with the town.

Acting under the best advice we could get, we decided his bond had better rest for the present. The excess on School street is only apparent, and on Garden street was rendered necessary to protect the interests of the town by railing it. We have as yet laid out no new streets, but shall probably propose a short one in Wellesley for the acceptance of the town. Croton street has been put in good condition and accepted. The County Commissioners have widened Walnut and Cedar streets. Some work should be done on the latter street the coming year.

POOR.

Mr. and Mrs. Peabody have continued their faithful work at the Almshouse. It should be noticed that the Warden has charge of the hall and offices, and also the lock-ups; in consequence of which many incidental expenses are incurred, which are not properly chargeable to the poor.

POOR OUT OF THE ALMSHOUSE.

As will be seen by our financial report, and as we stated at the annual meeting, bills of last year did not come to hand before the accounts were audited; but additional commitments to insane asylums and dulness of business have had the effect to increase the expenses of this department even beyond the estimate. The support of our insane is a great burden, and we endeavored to lessen it by a removal of some of the patients, but without success, as they became violent and have been returned.

Overseers of the Poor sometimes give "relief" when they doubt the propriety of doing so. It is better, however, to be mistaken occasionally than allow the worthy to suffer.

FIRE.

Expenses for extinguishing fires have somewhat exceeded the appropriations, but have not been so great as we expected.

Extravagant bills have been presented, but upon proper explanation withdrawn.

We do not believe that all who go to fires should be paid for so doing. Fires might thus become alarmingly frequent.

Certain changes in the Newton Fire Department may require a new arrangement with that city. The authorities will meet us, as in all cases heretofore, in a generous spirit.

LIQUOR LAW.

By vote of the town, as well as under the law itself, it is the duty of this Board to enforce the provisions of this statute.

Under our directions some twenty prosecutions have been made, many successfully, and the sale of liquor somewhat impeded. It is difficult to get the open aid of citizens in this work; fear of retaliation probably acting to prevent. The was directed by the town to attend to all complaints made in regard to nuisances.

Only one such complaint has been made, and the nuisance abated at once.

AUDITORS.

Acting as auditors, we have examined the several accounts, and, as reported above, they are correct to the best of our knowledge in every particular.

We have examined the accounts of the Treasurer, and take great pleasure in testifying to their absolute exactness and clearness.

We believe that the accounts of the Selectmen are wisely kept, and should at all times be open to inspection. The accounts of the School Committee are accurate, but may be simplified in form. We regret that we are unable to report upon the Collector's accounts, as it is desirable that all town accounts should be compared and balanced. Before the March meeting we hope to report upon his also.

ESTIMATES.

We were directed by the town to make an estimate of the indebtedness of the town February 1, 1877. The amount of loans will be found elsewhere. We have paid all bills due, so far as we know. There are, however, many bills, salaries of school teachers and town officers, interest, State paupers' expenses, etc., which are due only at stated times.

Of these we make the following estimates. Bills to the amount of several hundred dollars, on account of schools, which have usually "gone over," have been paid, and appear in this report, making up a large share of the apparent deficiency.

In addition there are accrued liabilities : —

On account of schools and incidentals (approximated),	$2,530 00
On account of "poor out" (estimated),	250 00
" " interest (approximated),	1,200 00
" " Dedham bridge (approx.),	600 00

On account of South School (approx.),	$135 00
“ “ Collector’s salary “	600 00
“ “ other salaries “	1,400 00
“ “ fires (estimated),	100 00
“ “ lighting streets, (estimated)	100 00
Total,	<hr/> $6,915 00

ESTIMATES OF APPROPRIATIONS FOR 1877.

Schools . . . . .	$14,500
Incidentals . . . . .	2,000
Poor . . . . .	3,500
Highways . . . . .	7,000
Interest . . . . .	5,000
Printing . . . . .	600
Fires . . . . .	750
Snow . . . . .	750
Town officers . . . . .	3,700
Miscellaneous . . . . .	1,200
Discount . . . . .	2,600
Abatement . . . . .	400
State and County tax . . . . .	7,600
Total . . . . .	<hr/> $49,600

It will be unnecessary to exceed ten dollars on a thousand, as our rate of taxation this year, to meet our necessary expenses; and, if all taxes are collected January 1, 1878, we should have, above our liabilities (aside from loans) at that time, over $7,500.00 in our treasury.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
